No Change In "National" Composition Of Ministry

Mr. Hore-Belisha At War OfficeMr. Oliver Stanley Succeeds
Mr. Runciman

London, To-day.

Although the composition of the new National Government, reshuffled after the retirement of the Premier, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, was much as anticipated, there are two surprise selections in the list of Cabinet Ministers, which was finally announced in London yesterday.

Mr. Alfred Duff-Cooper, formerly Secretary for War, becomes First Lord of the Admiralty in succession to Sir Samuel Hoare, who takes over the Home Office from Sir John Simon, and Mr. Leslie Hore-Belisha, the energetic National Liberal Minister for Transport, is transferred to the War Office.

Composition of the new Cabinet by parties remains much the same as before, the National Liberals and National Labour having four and two members, respectively, and the Conservatives having fifteen members, as opposed to sixteen in the last Cabinet, owing to the fact that the post of First Commissioner of Works no longer holds Cabinet rank.

National Labour, weakened through the retirement of Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, is made up to its former strength by the inclusion of the Earl de la Warr as Lord Privy Seal.

Cabinet Changes

Changes in the Cabinet are as follow:—

Prime Minister	Mr. Neville Chamberlain (C).
Chancellor of the Exchequer	Sir John Simon (Nat. Lib).
Home Secretary	Sir Samuel Hoare (C).
President of the Board of Trade ..	Mr. Oliver Stanley (C).
First Lord of the Admiralty	Mr. A. Duff Cooper (C).
Secretary for War	Mr. Leslie Hore-Belisha (Nat. Lib).
Lord President of the Council	Lord Halifax (C).
Lord Privy Seal	Earl de La Warr (Nat. Lib).
President of the Board of Education	Lord Stanhope (C).
Minister for Transport	Dr. Edward Burgin (Nat. Lib).

Cabinet Posts Unchanged

The following posts are unaltered:—

Foreign Secretary	Mr. Anthony Eden (C).
Dominions	Mr. Malcolm Macdonald (Nat. Lib).
Colonies	Mr. Ormsby Gore (C).
India Office	Marquess of Zetland (C).
Air Ministry	Lord Swinton (C).
Scotland	Mr. Walter Elliott (C).
Defence	Sir Thomas Inskip (C).
Agriculture	Mr. W. S. Morrison (C).
Labour	Mr. Ernest Brown (Nat. Lib).
Lord Chancellor	Lord Halsbury (C).
Health	Sir Kingsley Wood (C).

TO SPAIN

Berlin, To-day.

The German Naval Command has warned the military authorities at Valencia against attacking German warships, according to a German news agency communique.

The communique states:

Following the bombing of international control forces, including the German torpedo-boat Albatross off Palma, it is learned that German warships engaged in control duties have been repeatedly approached by Bolshevik aeroplanes flying in attack formation.

"A ship is almost defenceless against a bomb already dropped and

WISH

London, To-day.

King George has expressed a wish that the Duke of Windsor will personally enjoy the title of Royal Highness.

This is notwithstanding the fact that the existing letters patent issued in Queen Victoria's reign laid down that the title can only be enjoyed by near relations of the Sovereign who are "in succession to the throne."

The announcement, which was made in the "London Gazette" yesterday, will not extend to his wife or possible children, though they are entitled to a form of address appropriate to the wife and children of a Duke.—Reuter.

Expansion Of British Navy

Certain Continental newspapers appear to be under a misapprehension about the British rearmament programme, particularly in relation to the expansion of the Navy, writes the "Daily Telegraph" naval correspondent.

They suggest that the big programme of new construction is partly a "paper gesture," that it is not really intended to build all the ships voted, and that, in any case, British industry now lacks the resources necessary to complete such a programme in full. Finally, they assume that the limit of British naval expansion has now been reached.

The facts are very different. With the exception of five cruisers and an aircraft carrier, all the important ships of the 1937 programme have already been ordered, and contracts for the rest will be placed during the year.

So far from the British shipbuilding and armament industries being overburdened by the orders now in hand, and about to be placed, they could undertake a great deal of extra work, and will, in fact, be called upon to do so as the naval rearmament programme advances.

"Two Hemisphere Fleet"

In addition to the five 35,000-ton battleships now on order, at least four others could be laid down simultaneously if necessary, since there are not less than nine berths suitable for battleships available.

Moreover, the temporary shortage of skilled shipyard labour will disappear when the apprentices now being entered in large numbers become available.

Although the British Government has not announced the standard of naval strength at which it is aiming, the allusion of the First Lord of the Admiralty (Sir Samuel Hoare), when introducing the 1937 Navy Estimates, to a "two hemisphere fleet," obviously foreshadows a measure of expansion considerably larger than is represented by the increases in material and personnel already voted.

A further big programme of battleships, cruisers, and other vessels may, therefore, be expected next year. It is certain that the personnel will be increased well above the 112,000 officers and men for whom provision is made this year.

The new British naval policy would appear to aim at the creation of powerful, up-to-date fleets in home waters and the Mediterranean, and of reserves sufficient for the maintenance of a strong force in the Pacific should that prove expedient. These forces will eventually be supported by about 500 ship-borne first line aircraft.

These facts should serve to dispel any illusions which may exist abroad about the reality and scope of British rearmament at sea.

Several visitors to Loch Ness have recently declared that they have seen the black, humped back of a monster in the water.

The number of persons relieved on one day in March in the 47 large areas of Great Britain was 786,373, two per cent. less than in the previous month and 5.4 per cent. less than in March, 1936, states the "Ministry of Labour Gazette."

The Royal National Lifeboat Institution has made an extra money award to the crew of the motor lifeboat at Holyhead for the rescue in a gale of 59 men and a dog from the steamer Marie Moller, of Shanghai, on March 22.

Shanghai-Canton In 20 Hours By Rail

The complete trip by through express train from Shanghai to Canton over the Chekiang-Kiangsi, Canton-Hankow and Nanchang - Pinghsiang lines, scheduled to be inaugurated on October 10 this year, will require only 20 hours, it is learned in Shanghai.

It is also reported that a contract has been signed between the railway authorities and the International Wagon-Lits Co. for special coaches to be attached to all express trains on the through service. Up-to-date dining cars will also be carried.

Meanwhile, the work for linking the three lines is being rapidly pushed while the replacing of heavier sleepers on the Chekiang-Kiangsi section is expected to be completed shortly.

'Show Girl Extorted £340,000'

Louis Bamberger, millionaire Wall-street broker, alleges that Miss Betty Randolph, once a famous Follies beauty, extorted money from him to the tune of £340,000 over a period of 17 years.

Miss Randolph has replied with a suit for breach of verbal contract, declaring that Mr. Bamberger agreed in 1916 to give her £20,000 a year for the rest of her life but stopped paying in 1933.

Mr. Bamberger presented cancelled cheque at the District Attorney's office to show the "enormous sums" he had spent on the stage beauty.

Miss Randolph says: "If he was paying under extortion why did he do it regularly for so long, and why did he shower me with presents? We were on the best of terms until 1933, when he got married. I haven't seen him since."

Miss Randolph, four times married, was once sued for breach of promise by a clergyman who wanted £10,000 "heart-balm."

Shot Ends Life Of "Old-Timer"

Sixty-years-old "Professor" John Harrison, one-time broncho-buster and latterly "rheumatism specialist" down on his luck, was found shot in his basement flat in Guilford-street, Bloomsbury.

A large-calibre pistol, which he often told friends he used when he wore a sheriff's badge 30 years ago in California, lay near his side. He had been shot through the heart.

He had been intensely worried recently by money matters, a friend said, and a recently financial transaction in which he had been involved had caused the police to make certain inquiries.

Mr. Harrison, who was born in California in 1877, was a tall, commanding figure, often the centre of an enthralled group of listeners in Bloomsbury cafes.

He came to England in 1911, and became a "rheumatism specialist," and at one time earned a four-figure income. But sales dwindled. Two days ago he had an order for one bottle. He was unable to fulfil it.

THE WORLD GOES BY

I have just finished reading Oliver St. J. Gogarty's entertaining book about Dublin and the Irish.

He recounts an interesting anecdote about how the enthusiasm for sweepstakes spread from the Irish Hospitals Sweep to the hospitals themselves.

Each night the nurses in one ward would select a team of patients who had high temperatures. The nurses of another ward would do likewise, carefully selecting their most fevered patients.

The temperatures of each team would then be taken. The one with the highest total won.

Conversations like this would take place after the contest.

"St. Vincent's (ward) beat us . . . they won by 6.8 degrees over our side; we were playing eleven. I hope none of them rubbed their thermometers on their sleeves or put them on the hot water bottles . . . I have known that kind of thing to happen and it's not fair."

"When patients take such an interest in these inter-hospital sports competitions, which help them to bear their trouble and add interest to the weary hours, they should, at least, play the game . . . Anyway, we'll knock hell out of the Fever Hospital next week!"

The grimmest competition of all was a sweepstake held in which each nurse drew a ticket with a patient's name on it.

The nurse who drew the name of the patient who died first was the winner.

Such is life—and death.

Antiques

One of the biggest industries in England must be the manufacture of rare old antiques. There are hundreds of men working night and day making delicate and fragile old trophies that first saw the light of day centuries ago.

The proof of this great fraudulent activity is shown in a statement just issued by the United States Treasury. It is announced that the imports of non-dutiable antiques since 1911 amount to £128,126,000.

The Treasury states that 75 per cent. of these imports are fraudulent and most of them come from England.

H. K. TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS WEEKLY RETURN

In the Colony of Hong Kong, including the Island, Kowloon and the New Territories during the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, May 22, there were altogether 45 traffic accidents, as the result of which 1 person was killed and 23 persons were injured.

The person killed, a Chinese boy, aged 9 years, died as the result of injuries received when he was knocked down by a private motor car whilst running across the road.

Of the persons injured, 14 were pedestrians, who were either walking or running across the road and were struck by vehicles.

Three tramcar passengers and one bus passenger were injured while alighting from moving tramcars and a moving motor bus respectively.

One ricksha driver, 1 ricksha passenger, a bicycle passenger and one bicycle rider were injured as the result of collisions between vehicles.

A Chinese female was injured when she was knocked down by a motor lorry during a vehicle collision.

Of the 45 accidents, 19 were collisions between vehicles; 19 were collisions between vehicles and pedestrians; and 7 accidents were due to other causes.

Quadruplet Sets To Two Women

Quadruplets were born by two different mothers at about the same time in two villages in the district of Hsueh, Northern Kiangsu, according to a special telegram appearing in the Shanghai Ta Wan Pao.

A woman named Wang Sze, who is the wife of a farmer living at Hsueh, is the mother of quadruplet girls. The other quadruplet birth took place in another village called Tishan where a woman named Li Sze gave birth to three boys and one girl.

The quadruplets in both births are living and their mothers are reported doing well.

SUN YAT SEN

Effects On Display In Nanking

The daily articles used by the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Founder of the Chinese Republic, during his imprisonment in the then Chinese Legation in London in 1895 will be exhibited at the Chinese Embassy there.

These historic objects, including an iron bed, a wooden wash basin stand, a wooden chair, a wooden table, and a rattan round table, have been shipped by the Chinese Consulate in Liverpool to London where they will be displayed in the very room where Dr. Sun was detained 42 years ago.

Kuomintang Story To Be Filmed

A talking picture tracing the history from the Sino-Japanese War through the revolutionary period, particularly the Nationalist Northern Punitive Expedition in 1926, and including some of the highlights in the life of Yuan Shin-kai, Dr. Sun Yat-sen and Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, is now being planned in Hollywood.

The film, if approved by the Chinese authorities, will be based on the book "Cavalcade of China," written by one I. I. Kounin, an American author.

Dr. C. T. Wang, Chinese Ambassador to Washington, has already read the book and signified his willingness to negotiate with the responsible parties for the filming of the story. It is also reported that the author is now making arrangements at Washington and Hollywood.

The picture will be over 10,000 feet long and Chinese students, now studying in the United States, will be invited to take prominent parts in the film. All dialogue will be in English.

If arrangements are successful, the picture will be produced jointly by Chinese and American film companies. Sixty per cent. of the film will be made in Hollywood while the rest will be made in Nanking under the auspices of the Central Movie Studio. It will include background "shots" of China's air and military forces and speeches delivered by Gen. Chiang Kai-shek before the Chinese army.

JAPANESE PLANE ABLE TO CIRCLE WORLD

Claimed by its builders to be capable of circumnavigating the world with only three stops, the giant long-distance plane of the Tokyo Imperial University has completed its gliding tests.

The huge craft has already passed three gliding tests with flying colours.

Still unnamed, the plane made its first long-test flight on May 25. The machine was designed by the Aeronautical Research Institute of the University and built in great secrecy at a Tokyo factory, at the cost of Y.750,000.

Its builders claim that the plane can cruise 16,000 kms. non-stop in 80 hours, using 7,000 liters of gasoline.

The machine weighs 3.7 tons. Its overall is 14.44 meters, wing spread is 28 meters, and wing area 87 sq. meters.

BRIDGE NOTES

By ELY CULBERTSON

Ignorance Of Conventions

The apocryphal quality, "card sense," never can take the place of a solid knowledge of the conventions. Although one partner may be the best card player in the world, it is impossible for the partnership to obtain good results without co-operation. And, needless to say, that co-operation can function only through the medium of partnership language, that is, conventions of bidding and play.

The North player, in the hand that follows, was ignorant as to the meaning of his partner's redouble, hence a probable game for his own team was transformed into a grand slam for his opponents. Such enormous swings as this should drive every player to obtain at least a smattering of important conventions.

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Double	Pass	Pass
Redouble	Pass	2 hearts	3 dia.
Pass	4 dia.	Pass	4 hearts
Pass	5 clubs	Pass	7 clubs
Pass	Pass	Pass

The above remarkable series of bids bears considerable analysis. North-South were not using the two way three bid and, therefore, South decided to start with a one bid rather than preempt with three or four spades. In my opinion his choice was not good, and three spades would have been the ideal vulnerable bid on this hand. West should not have doubled for a take-out. A simple two club overcall was the best course. After the take-out double and the pass, by North, East hardly can be blamed for visualizing an enormous penalty with his rock crusher. Moreover, being void in hearts, he naturally visualized his partner with a heart suit and feared the difficulties resulting from a misfit. South's redouble was open to severe criticism, but his explanation given later had a certain measure of logic. He knew the opponents to be of the type that trust each other blindly and, therefore, felt there was a reasonable chance that both would allow the redouble to stand. If they did, obviously he might make a game. His redouble worked out beautifully as far as West was concerned. Instead of being properly frightened by his own lack of spades, West tamely passed.

The greatest obstacle now had been surmounted. With West accepting the redouble, it is almost inconceivable that East would have run out, since his leave-in had been eminently sound. But, to South's horror, his own partner now got underfoot. Having heard somewhere, possibly years ago, that a redouble under such circumstances called for a rescue, North rushed in with a two heart bid. From that point on North and South never had a chance to open their mouths except to pass. East properly assumed control, and he and his partner, thanks to the second opportunity given them by North, rushed pell-mell to their laydown grand slam.

Against the normal diamond opening by West, the one spade redoubled contract actually would have been fulfilled. The swing between the probable result of one spade redoubled, which would have meant a vulnerable game, and the grand slam actually bid and made was a mere matter of 2,760 points.

TO-DAY'S QUESTION

Question: My partner and I were using the two way three bid. Partner opened with three diamonds. Next hand passed. Should I respond with three no trump on the following?

LEAGUE DEBATE ON SPAIN

Soviet Prepared To Support Armistice Plan

Western Pact Talks At Geneva

Geneva, To-day.
The Franco-British declaration in regard to Belgium was discussed by the League Council meeting yesterday evening.

Mr. Anthony Eden (British Foreign Secretary) and M. Yvon Delbos (French Foreign Minister) pointed out that they had not lost hope that a new Western Pact will be concluded to replace the machinery of Locarno.

Mr. Eden said he hoped the negotiations with Belgium, so happily concluded, would lead to further negotiations and closer collaboration of all interested countries.

M. Delbos said he would continue the efforts towards attaining consolidation of the general peace of Europe by means of wide European understanding.

M. Spaak, the Belgian Foreign Minister, reiterated Belgium's determination to defend her territory and prevent its use for operations against any other State.—Reuter.

DR. GOEBBELS ON CATHOLIC CHURCH

Violent Attack On Morals

Berlin, To-day.
The fiercest attack ever made on the morals of the Catholic Church in Germany, was broadcast last night by the Reich Minister for Propaganda, Dr. Joseph Goebbels.

Dr. Goebbels uttered a plain warning that most drastic steps would be taken against high dignitaries of the Catholic Church in Germany if Catholics in Germany or abroad continued to utter criticisms of the morality of the trials now proceeding in Germany.—Reuter.

Mr. W. A. Jones, who recently arrived in Hong Kong from England, has been appointed to be an Assistant Crown Solicitor. He is to act as Assistant Land Officer and Deputy Registrar of Marriages.

Professor Adler's Death In Street

London, To-day.
Professor Alfred Adler, the famous Viennese psychologist, collapsed and died in the street yesterday at Aberdeen, where he was delivering a series of lectures.—Reuter.

WAR ON TAX EVASION

PRES. ROOSEVELT'S CAMPAIGN

Washington, To-day.
President Roosevelt intends to ask Congress to legislate to check evasion of income tax by a small group of wealthy persons.

The President made this intimation at a press conference yesterday, and added that taxes evaded amounted to millions of dollars.

According to the "New York Evening Journal," some prominent wealthy Americans have been transferring their banking accounts or establishing corporations in British territory, such as Canada, Newfoundland and the West Indies, in order to avoid the American income tax.—Reuter.

CHIANG TO TRAIN OFFICERS

Nanking, To-day.
Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek will take charge of the military officers' training class at Kuling this year. It is learned that each division will send a number of its officers to Kuling for further training in the Summer. — Our Own Correspondent.

General Yip Shiu, Divisional Commander of the 160th. Division of the 4th. Route Army, has been invited by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to a personal interview and left Hong Kong for Shanghai en route to Kuling in the Empress of Russia.

Major Stanley Jarvis, M. C. has been awarded the Efficiency Medal in regard to the H.K.V.D.C., the "Government Gazette" announces.

Senor del Vayo's Charge Against Italians

Geneva, To-day.

The Spanish appeal in regard to foreign intervention in the civil war was debated by the League Council yesterday evening.

Mr. Anthony Eden, the British Foreign Secretary, said the Governments of Europe could not be satisfied that the objectives of the non-intervention committee were realised until the last foreigner was withdrawn from Spain and that country was allowed to settle her own destinies.

REFERRING TO THE NON-INTERVENTION COMMITTEE'S SCHEME FOR WITHDRAWAL OF VOLUNTEERS, HE SAID THEY WERE NOW IN COMMUNICATION WITH THE POWERS PRINCIPALLY CONCERNED, SO THAT A JOINT APPROACH COULD BE MADE TO THE TWO PARTIES IN SPAIN.

Hitherto no such approach had been made, nor would it be made until the Governments represented on the non-intervention committee agreed to plans for withdrawal of volunteers and to temporary cessation of hostilities to enable it to be carried out.

The replies hitherto received in no way precluded the possibility of agreement.

SPAIN'S CASE

Senor del Vayo, presenting the Spanish case, said that if the League was to have a future, the struggle in Spain could not end without the League adopting a clear and firm position.

Spaniards were fighting not only for national independence but for the freedom of all people who did not wish to become victims of totalitarian tyranny.

Referring to the presence of Italian forces in Spain, he said that according to Spanish figures, there were from 75,000 to 80,000 Italian troops in Spain.

He declared settlement of the conflict could only be reached by full restoration of national sovereignty of power which expressed the will of the people as manifested in the 1936 elections.

TWO DUTIES

M. Delbos, the French Foreign Minister, urged that the Council had two duties.

Firstly, to prevent the atrocities of war from falling on innocent victims, and Secondly, to recall foreign combatants in Spain.

M. Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet Foreign Commissar, said the fact that the Spanish Government had to struggle not only against rebellion but foreign intervention, constituted a threat to general peace.

If this attempt at intervention was allowed to pass with impunity, there would be no guarantee that it would not be repeated in the near future.

SOVIET DECISION

From Moscow it is reported that the Soviet agrees in principle to the British proposal for a truce in Spain, but insists that the insurgents cease hostilities first and first withdraw all foreign troops, including Moors.—Reuter.

OUR "PATCHED-UP LIVES"

"Danger To Future Of Race"

Lord Dawson of Penn, speaking at a conference on the care of the tuberculous at Overseas House, London, referred to the movement in England towards an improved standard of physical fitness. The conference was called by the Overseas League and the Papworth Village Settlement.

"If we are to have a fit race," said Lord Dawson, "we must have the care of all people suffering from communicable diseases. The care and after-care of an open case of tuberculosis is not only an act of mercy—I was almost going to say justice—to the unfortunate individual concerned; it is a necessity for the health of the community."

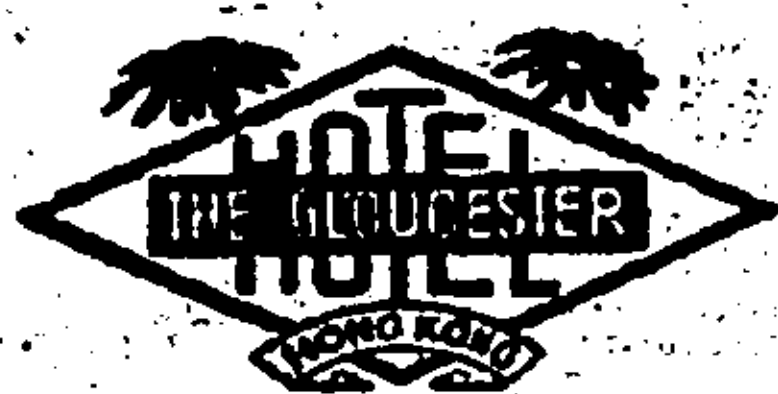

The growth of knowledge and social consciousness had led to the saving of many lives which in previous generations would have been removed by death. But they must not forget that therein lay a danger for the future of the race.

Begetters Of Children

"Lives that are merely patched up," he added, "are not good begetters of children for the next generation, and the more patched-up lives you save the greater risk you run."

"It is not an argument for not doing justice to the full to the patched-up life, but it is a case for doing everything to separate the case that could be cured from that which could only be patched up."

The latter needed a kindly shelter, but without any effort artificially to restore them to an active community in which they were unfitted to take a part.

SEVEN BRITISH SEAMEN KILLED IN VALENCIA RAID

ITALIAN LOSSES REPORTED IN PALMA BOMBING

Valencia, To-day.

Seven members of the crew of a Cardiff steamer were killed and eight injured, of whom three are expected to die, when the ship was hit by an insurgent bomb and sunk in Valencia harbour yesterday.

The number of dead in yesterday's air raid on Valencia is hitherto 37, all the bodies having been taken to the morgue.

The damaged buildings included the flat of the American consul, who was uninjured, as well as the house of a member of the British Embassy, who was absent at the time.

It was also revealed yesterday that six Italian officers on board the Italian auxiliary vessel Barletta were killed and others wounded in air raids on Palma on May 24 and 26.

This news came to light when the Italian Ambassador in London and representative of Rome on the non-intervention committee, Count Dino Grandi, lodged a protest at yesterday's meeting of the committee in London.

The committee passed a resolution deploring the loss of Italian lives, also the fact that the bombs dropped in close proximity to British, German and other naval vessels. — Reuter.

NO DIVORCE, NO WORKING WIVES

There will be no divorce in the land of Eire—the new name to be given the Irish Free State when it is proclaimed a sovereign, independent democratic State.

In the text of the draft of the new Constitution which Mr. de Valera proposes to present for ratification at the coming General Election is a declaration that by her life within the home woman gives to the State a support without which the common good cannot be achieved.

"The State shall therefore endeavour to ensure that mothers shall not be obliged by economic necessity to engage in labour to the neglect of their duties in the home."

The State pledges itself to guard with special care the institution of marriage. No law shall be enacted to provide dissolution of marriage.

No law shall be passed attempting to abolish the right of private ownership, and the State recognises the special position of the Holy Catholic Apostolic and Roman Church as the guardian of the faith professed by the great majority of the citizens.

The name of Mr. T. H. Hopkins has been added to the list of auditors.

WHEN 'BUS HORSE WON NATIONAL

M.P.s Reminded By Minister

A Standing Committee of the House of Commons was reminded by Mr. W. S. Morrison, Minister of Agriculture, that the Grand National was once won by a "vanner"—a horse in such a condition that it could be used between the shafts.

Mr. Morrison was probably referring to Rubio, an American-bred horse, which was successful in 1908. Before running at Aintree, Rubio earned his keep by pulling the station omnibus at Towcester, Northants. Chandler, the 1848 winner, was bought for £25 when drawing a cheese and bacon chandler's gig. The point behind Mr. Morrison's Grand National reference was the elasticity of the term "vanner."

"Vanner" A Wide Term

Lt.-Col. G. J. Acland Troyte (C., Tiverton) had asked if the Exportation of Horses Bill, which the Committee was discussing, would cover broken-down hunters, and Mrs. Morrison replied that the difficulty had been to find a word that would give the widest possible discretion for the purposes of the bill.

The word "vanner" was the best in the circumstances, and he assured the Committee that he would give the inspectors instructions which would enable them to put a very wide interpretation on the term.

There were only four amendments to the bill, which is framed to stop the shipping of work-worn horses from this country for slaughter, or for further work prior to slaughter.

Amendments in the name of Mr. E. A. Radford (C., Rusholme), the sponsor of the bill, were agreed to, including the omission of two of the four clauses, and the bill was ordered to be reported to the House.

In spite of the fact that reports of the Pope's bad health have been denied, Dr. Milani, his physician, has again ordered as much rest as possible.

Operations On North West Frontier

Simla, To-day.

The British troops operating in the Waziristan sector on the North-West Frontier yesterday reached a cave where the Fakir of Ipi had recently hid himself with his followers and from where he directed the hostile activities against the British authorities.

The Fakir is at present further up the mountains amongst the tribesmen.—Reuter.

AUSTRALIAN TRADE POLICY

To Be Challenged
In Courts!

WRIT ISSUED

Melbourne, To-day.

Australian trade policy is being challenged by the Radio Corporation Limited of Melbourne.

The Corporation yesterday issued a writ against Mr. Thomas White, the Commonwealth Minister of Trade and Comptroller-General of the Customs.

The Corporation claim that existing regulations by which trade is diverted in favour of countries which are the chief buyers of Australian goods, are void, and declare that as a result trade with Japan has suffered and that the United States is likely to take retaliatory measures.—Reuter.

DIVORCE REFORM PASSED

London, To-day.

The House of Commons yesterday passed the third reading of Mr. A. P. Herbert's Marriage Bill by 190 votes to 37.

The Bill, one of the most debated measures of recent years, provides, inter alia, for no divorce within five years of marriage.

A divorce may be obtained for either adultery, desertion, cruelty or incurable insanity.

Although the Government saved the Bill by granting facilities for a third reading, it refused to give its blessing to the measure, which was left to the free vote of the House.

The Bill now goes to the House of Lords.—Reuter.

ROYAL

TRAVELLERS

BY AIR

Air transport has been honoured by the patronage of many Royal travellers—a fact which gains special significance, just at the present time, in view of the rejoicings in connection with the Coronation of King George VI.

Both in his association with the Royal Air Force, and in his interest in every phase of civil flying, King George VI. has always shown that he realises to the full the importance of aviation to our far-flung British Empire. And he—like others of the Royal Family—has invoked the speed of the modern passenger-plane when carrying out his arduous duties. An instance which comes to mind in this connection was when he, as Duke of York—and accompanied by the Duchess—chartered one of the air-lines of Imperial Airways to fly from London to the Universal Exhibition at Brussels.

Among flights by the Duke of Windsor, when he was Prince of Wales, was his memorable trip in the Imperial Airways flying-boat 'Satyrus' to join the Mediterranean Fleet. During that flight the Prince had a picturesque aerial view of the Fleet by moonlight.

It is interesting to note that it was in January, 1935, on the occasion of a flight from London to Paris in one of the 'Heracles' class air-liners, that the Duchess of Kent made her first acquaintance with air travel. She declared afterwards that she had thoroughly enjoyed the experience, and since then the Duke and Duchess have been regular air travellers.

Indian Maharajahs and other potentates, after making journeys by Imperial Airways have been so impressed by the speed and luxury of air travel that they have, in more than one instance, purchased private saloon-planes of their own, adopting air transport as a regular means of travel, when called upon to make long journeys.

Four Royalties

A particularly enthusiastic Royal traveller was, it may be recalled, the late King Albert of the Belgians. So, too, was the late King Feisal of Iraq.

It was during a visit paid by the Imperial Airways air-liner 'Aurora' to Brussels that, for the first time, four members of a Royal Family went up together, in the same machine. Those Royal passengers were the late King of the Belgians, the Queen, and the Duke and Duchess of Brabant. They flew together in 'Aurora' from Brussels to Antwerp and back.

On one of the visits to England by the late King Feisal of Iraq a specially-chartered Imperial Airways air-liner was used to carry the King from Baghdad to Cairo, Imperial Airways have many times being honoured by the patronage of the Royal Family. The above picture was taken on the occasion of the visit of the King and Queen (then Duke and Duchess of York) to Brussels for the Brussels Exhibition. In the background is the Imperial Airways liner 'Draco,' in which they travelled from London.

CEYLON AS AIR BASE

One Corner Of Triangle

Defence observers in Singapore attach great importance to the plan to station Royal Air Force planes at Trincomalee, the naval base at Ceylon, by the end of the year. The station will form one corner of a triangle of which Singapore and the new base to be established at Darwin will form the other two.

It is believed the new station at Trincomalee will be able to accommodate two squadrons. It is expected to cost £400,000.

The construction of an aerodrome at Trincomalee is going ahead fast. Work on hangars, workshops and staff accommodation is making good progress. The inauguration of the air base will complete the varied defences of the Trincomalee base.

The installation of 6 in. guns there is nearing completion, and plans are well in hand for the construction of a boom to prevent the entry of submarines.

Meanwhile the Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean, one of Britain's smallest Crown Colonies, are assuming strategic importance as a stopping place on the proposed South Africa-Australia air service.

1,089 MILES IN 24 HOURS

Motorists' Record

Over 1,000 miles in 24 hours on English and Scottish roads without once exceeding the speed limit in built-up areas—this record has been set up by two amateur drivers using a saloon car.

Setting out from Marble Arch the two drivers—Mr. Maurice L. Trevor, of Ewell, and Mr. Colin Hardy, of Esher—reached Aberdeen in 12-hr. 5min. and made the return journey to London again before midnight.

Their average speed, including stops, was 45.375 miles per hour. They stopped five times for petrol and for 20 minutes in Aberdeen, and covered a total distance of 1,089 miles.

"We had perfect conditions from London as far as Stamford," said Mr. Trevor, "but from there to Boroughbridge, in Yorkshire, we could only average 35 miles an hour owing to mist."

"As far as possible we avoided the big towns, but we had to pass through Stamford, Doncaster, Carlisle, Lanark, Stirling and Perth."

BRITAIN FIGHTS WING ICE

Imperial Airways will shortly make experiments for the prevention of ice formation on the wings during flight.

If the equipment which has been fitted to a D.H. 86 aircraft, which was recently taken out of service, proves satisfactory it will be fitted on all Imperial Airways machines.

Tests have proved that the aerodynamical qualities of the aircraft have not been impaired, and the equipment itself will be tested under conditions approaching service flights.

It is hoped that this device will solve finally the problems of cold weather flying. Experts of the Air Ministry and Imperial Airways are of the opinion that the proper way to deal with the problem is to prevent ice-formation rather than to remove it (deicing).

The "anti-icer" embodies the process of forcing, under pressure, a solution of ethylene glycol through rubber tubes fitted along the wings and struts out through vents in the tubes to the surfaces likely to be affected by ice.

Experiments are also being made by the use of a new paste which is applied to all surfaces and is capable of preventing water freezing even during extended flights.

accompanied by nine members of his staff. And on the arrival of the air-liner at Baghdad, a picturesque official reception took place at the air-port.

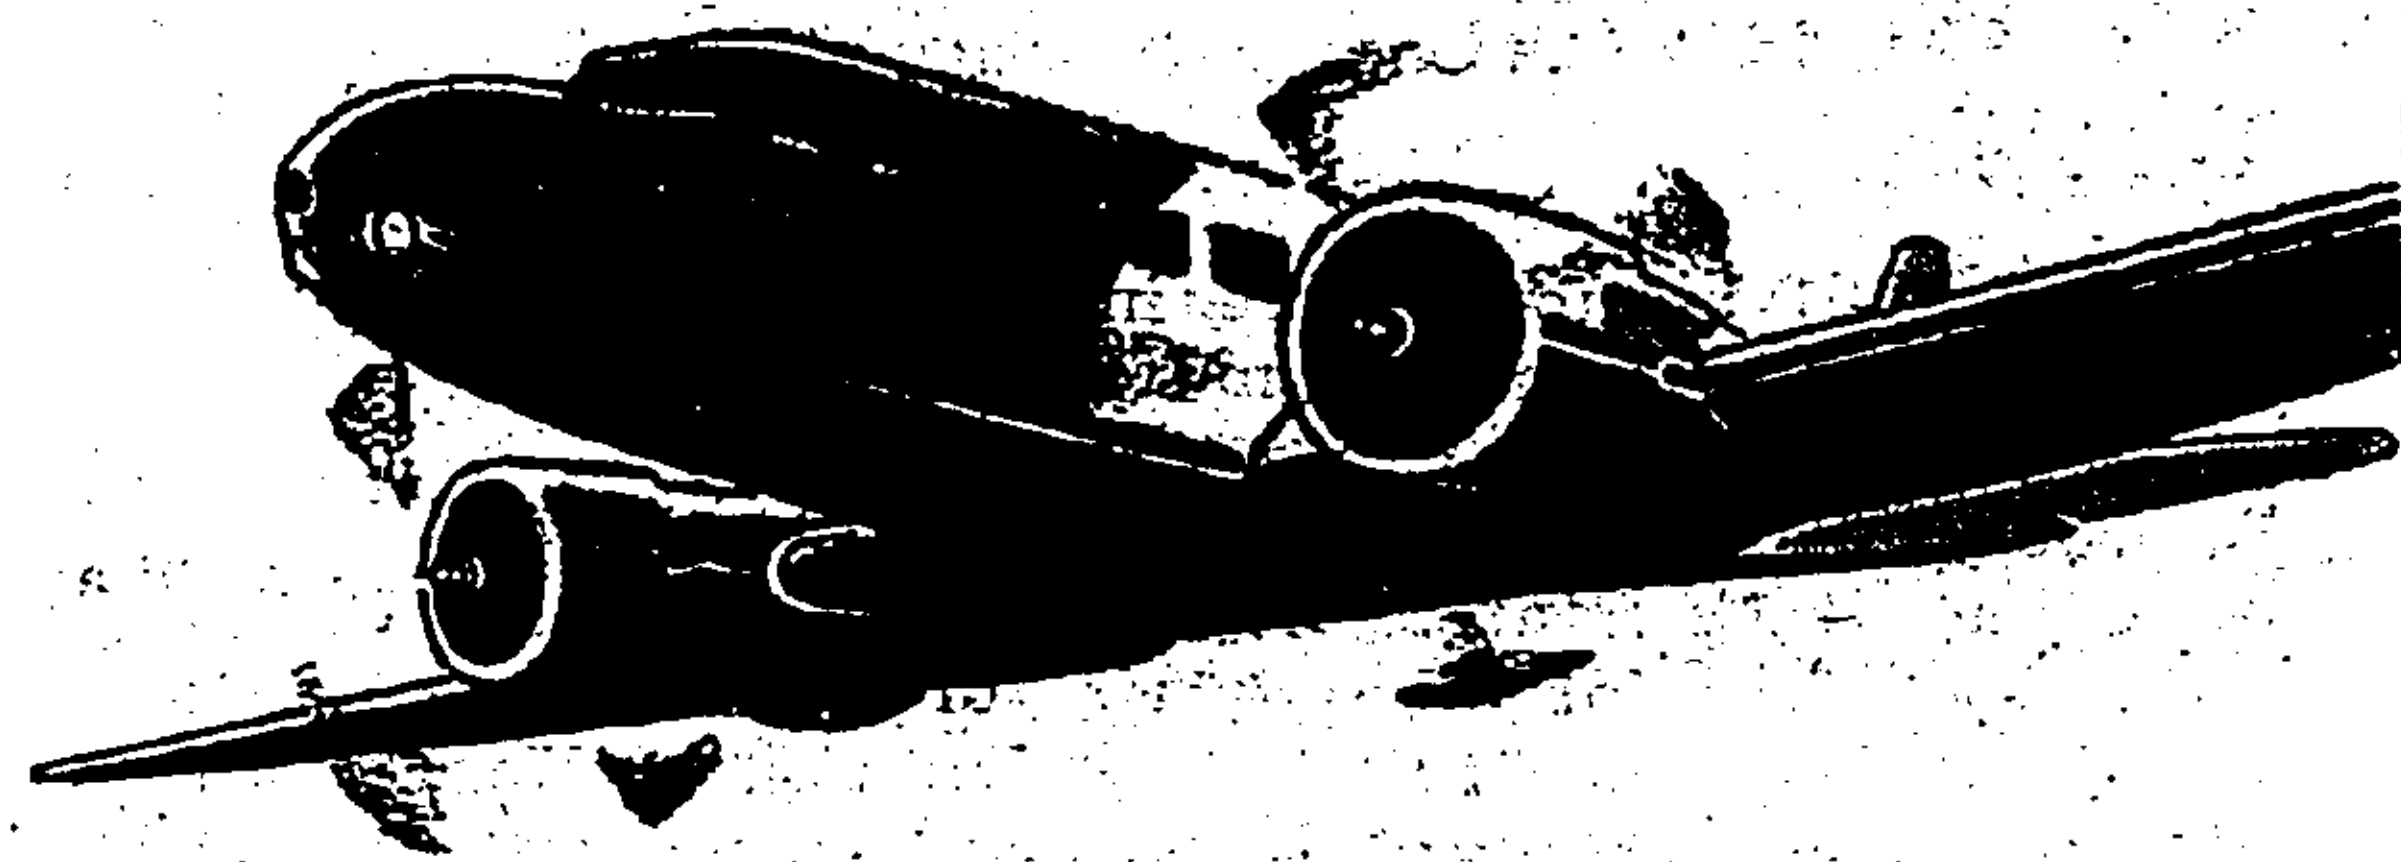

On one occasion, flying over Northern Africa by Imperial Airways, ex-King Ferdinand of Bulgaria accomplished in 36 hours a journey which, some years previously, had taken him 26 days. The thing which impressed him particularly, he said, was the pleasantly cool temperature it was possible to maintain in an air-liner saloon even when flying through the tropics.

State Documents

The long-distance air routes of Imperial Airways have often been employed for the carriage of States documents from one part of the Empire to another. And in this regard it is interesting to note that special Coronation addresses from the Rulers of Johore, Kedah, Perlis, Kelantan, and Brunei were entrusted to the Imperial Airways services from Singapore to London. After their arrival at Southampton in one of the 'C' class flying-boats, these loyal addresses were forwarded to the Secretary of State for the Colonies for presentation to His Majesty the King.

One interesting example of the services rendered by air transport to Royalty, apart from its actual use in the making of passenger flights, occurred during the official tour by Prince George in South Africa. During this tour it was found possible to keep him supplied, by air, with a special service of London newspapers and periodicals. These were flown out by Imperial Airways to Germiston. Then after this they went on immediately by train to wherever the Prince might be at the moment. In this way he was able to receive London newspapers within 11 days of their publication.

THIS WEEK ON THE LOCAL SHARE MARKET

Messrs. G. A. Harriman and Co.'s weekly share report and market review issued at noon to-day states:

Most of the current week, markets have been quiet but steady and without particular feature, but towards the close things have brightened up somewhat, with Manila shares a stronger market than for several weeks past. One outstanding local share is Hong Kong Banks, which have steadily improved to $1940 (a rise of $50 on the week) closing buyers at this rate. Unions were taken also at $622. China Underwriters have risen to $2.05 and we anticipate these will go higher. Hong Kong Fires are just $280 and Cantons nominally $312. Bank of East Asia have buyers at the improved price of $94. Douglas S. S. took a sharp rise to $47½, but it should not be overlooked that the last quoted rate was really a nominal one, no sales having been reported for many weeks past.

Wharfs continue to be dealt in between $119 and $120. Hong Kong Docks sold at $30½ and close with buyers at $30½; further appreciation is likely for the company has plenty of work in hand. Providents (old) are firmer at $2.22½, but the "New" are less popular and available at 70 cents. Hotels are a dull market and from lack of interest the quotation has slipped to $7.20. Lands exchanged at $35½ and more are wanted. Realty sold at $6.10, whilst Humphreys offer at $9½. Raubs have improved again in $12.80 cum at which there are now small sellers.

Trams have subsided to a nominal price of $14½; the further reduction in the Quarry Bay fares showing that bus competition has still to be combated. Peak Trams (old) are $4.85 bid, without attracting sellers, and the (New) can be taken at $1¼. Star Ferries are better at $85, but Yaumati Ferries offer at $25½ after sales at $25¼. Telephones (old) are $29.40 bid and the "New" $12. Hong Kong Electrics were placed at $61 and more are enquired for, at slightly under. Macao Electrics are saleable at $18½.

Dairy Farms are steady at $25¼ and Watsons are in enquiry at $4.80. There are buyers of Wm. Powell at 40 cts. Marsman Hong Kong have improved to 6/6, business done, with further buyers. These should go back to at least par (10s) in due course.

Hong Kong Government 4 per cent. loan exchanged at $108½, and more is wanted. The 3½ per cent. loan is $102 buyers. Cements are just $15.15 and Ropes $5¼ buyers.

Philippine mining. There has been considerably more business passing in this section than for several weeks past, and some appreciable improvement in values, particularly United Paracales, which are now $1.30, San Mauricos now $3.35 and Coco Groves now $1.03. Business was done in all the foregoing at rising rates. There were also transactions in Demonstrations at $1.15, East Mindanso at 38 cents and 40 cents and I.X.L. at $1.25.

Closing comment. Hong Kong very steady.

Manila. Firmer and more active, further improvement likely.

A decree has been issued in Berlin that 10 per cent. of bread, whether of wheat or rye, may henceforth consist of potato flour, dried skimmed milk, or corn products.

THE COULD NOT PUT HIM TO SLEEP

First Nap In Years

Had he dared to lie down, he would have died. Now he's bought a bed—to celebrate his first sleep in fifteen years.

War veteran John Lewis Marchant, forty-three, of Homefield-road, Walton-on-Thames, is the man on whom they've worked miracles.

Three weeks ago he walked into a new clinic for lung diseases at Slough after giving himself up as incurable.

He was interviewed in a vapour-filled ward at the clinic when his old commanding officer, General Sir Hubert Gough, paid him a visit.

Wide-awake Marchant developed asthma, he said, after a gas attack. His nerves were shattered, he could not sleep, so he worked twenty-four hours a day.

"I opened a motor repair shop," he went on, "and part of my special service was to repair lorries during the night."

"When trade was flat, I used to paint and read. I have been to hospitals, Harley-street specialists, and spent a small fortune on cures."

"After only three weeks of treatment at this new clinic I went to sleep for the first time for fifteen years."

"My wife and three kiddies are very happy."

HUNTING CAPTIVE WILD ANIMALS

Bill To Stop Sport

M.P.s of all parties are sponsoring a bill designed to protect animals which, though nominally wild, are kept in captivity or confinement and released for hunting or coursing.

The bill is supported by many members of all parties, including Mr. George Lansbury, Sir George

"TRIED TO GAS WOMAN THROUGH 62-FOOT HOSEPIPE"

A sixty-two foot hosepipe, through which, it was alleged, gas was conveyed up four flights of stairs to poison a woman, was examined by a jury at the Old Bailey.

Albert Antoine Thiebault, fifty-three-year-old Frenchman, of Kennington-road, S.E., was accused of attempting to murder Vivien Letitia Dean, or, alternatively of administering poison to endanger her life. He pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Anthony Hawke, prosecuting, said that it was alleged that the gas was carried by the hosepipe from the basement and poured into Dean's bedroom through the top of her locked door.

"Thiebault is the landlord of the house," said Mr. Hawke. "For eight years he and Mrs. Dean had lived together."

"They quarrelled about Dean's alleged association with another man, living in the house."

Roused By Hissing

"On the morning of March 21 Dean was awakened by a hissing noise from the door of her room."

"She unlocked the door and saw Thiebault in his pyjamas. He had rubber tubing in his hand."

"Mrs. Dean screamed, and Thiebault came into her room. He took her by the throat and told her to keep quiet. She promised and he left her."

"When the police were called they found the house smelt strongly of gas. They discovered tubing, smelling of gas, in a cellar."

Thiebault denied that he had tried to gas Mrs. Dean.

He said that he was awakened by a movement upstairs, and found Mrs. Dean on the landing.

The trial was adjourned.

Highland evening dress, including kilt and sporran, in a suitcase, was taken from Lord Sempill's car left in Pall Mall.

Coughs Are Catching!

In theatres, cinemas, dance halls and at sporting events, as well as in trams, buses and trains, you are continually exposed to the risk of catching colds and developing coughs and throat affections. Respiroids, inhalant lozenges, provide an effective barrier against coughs and colds, and minimise the risk of infection. They are pleasant to take, and are designed so that their curative elements are conveyed immediately to the nasal passages, throat and lungs, where the risk of infection is greatest. Carry them with you; they are convenient for the pocket, and be prepared for their immediate use when you encounter a crowd. Obtainable from chemists.

SIMPLIFICATION OF KINGSHIP

The action of the Labour Party in forcing a division in the House of Commons on the Civil List, which embodies the State's grants to the Royal Family, was perhaps dangerous as liable to a good deal of misinterpretation. The most important words of the debate for this reason were those of Mr. Neville Chamberlain who said: "I do not take the opposition motion as meaning any hostility to the idea of monarchy or of suggesting that if we have a monarchy it should not be kept up with due regard. I take it that it is for the purpose of placing on record a point of view." That this was the sole purpose was made clear by Mr. Arthur Greenwood, who declared that the Labour Party was not concerned with the question of Republicanism or Monarchy or the matter of economy, but was appealing for a simpler form of monarchy. Or, if it be necessary to reduce the Labour attitude to realistic terms, the Labour Party does not believe in perpetuation of barriers of splendour and display which, by their destruction of the Royal Family's privacy, lead to tragic events like the Abdication.

Warning that such a resolution was probable was given by Major Attlee, sitting as a member of the committee which prepared the Civil List, when he opposed the grants proposed in terms which seemed to show that the Abdication cut deeper to the hearts of members of the Labour Party than it did, perhaps, to other groups to whom the ex-King's democracy caused considerable offence. That apart, the resolution must be looked upon not as a challenge to the monarchy, in any sense of the term, but as a recognition of the fact that though the institution has come through the events of last December unshaken, a subtle change has come over public opinion towards it. It is no longer outside the field of criticism and discussion, and loyalty will not now be questioned when suggestions are made as to how its purpose may be best fulfilled. Mr. Greenwood's resolution found support only on the Labour side of the House but its sentiments will command, we believe, a much wider assent. Labour does not wish to sweep away the traditions centring upon the Crown; so many of them bring a colour to English life that no one would wish to lose, and they also have their value as symbols of Imperial unity. But there are sides to the Court which, as everyone admits, minister to social snobbery and class divisions. They are less tolerable than they used to be when England was ruled by an aristocracy, and they are not essential to the monarchy or to its enhancement as a bulwark against dictatorship.

How, the framework of English society being what it is, the Labour party would democratise the Throne and surround it with a less exclusive entourage is rather more difficult to guess. But it is still fair to say that a wider social background is desirable and that a considerable advance towards greater simplicity would strengthen the ties uniting King and people, relieve the King of tedious and irksome ceremonial, and add dignity to Kingship as well as allow His Majesty more freedom of personal life. These things, however, depend largely on the man, and Mr. Chamberlain probably represented the mass of opinion in suggesting that simplification should come from the King's own inclination and natural disposition. The discussion, if a guess might be hazarded, will probably be welcomed by His Majesty as giving him a lead in a direction he will be only too pleased to follow.

M.P.s Salaries

It is just as well that the Labour Party were not money-grubbing, as it were, in the Civil List debate, or it would have looked strange to find them on the same day applauding the Government's decision to increase M.P.s allowances by £200 per annum. No one can seriously cavil with the decision. As Mr. Baldwin pointed out, if £400 was considered equitable in 1911, it follows per se that it is no longer adequate under present conditions. The value of money has changed importantly since that time, expenses in every way have increased.

Leprosy Perils

A somewhat startling statement is made in an English comment on the Yeung Kong leper massacre reports, which would appear to demand an answer from the Colony's Health Department. Revelations made of the presence of lepers in the Shamshui district, wandering freely about, were answered by the medical authorities, or, to put it more accurately, by a Government doctor, who rather pool-pooled the idea of danger and asserted that infection was extremely unlikely in the early stages of the dread complaint. The English assessment of the danger is precisely the reverse. The "Manchester Guardian" states: "It is now known that leprosy is most contagious in its early stages when it is hardly, if at all, detectable, and it is for this reason that segregation has never been able to check the spread of the disease." It would appear to be in the public interest that the truth in this remarkable conflict of viewpoint should be made known quickly.

Ain't Love Gland!

Here's the series everyone is taking about. Katherine Townsend writes it. Glands, she says, rule our lives—and our loves.

To-day's types are the streamlined girl dominated by her thyroid and the square head with an over-active adrenal.

THE thyroid girl is happy and healthy.

She's pretty well adjusted, yet pretty susceptible to love for all that. And why shouldn't she be?

She's streamlined from top to toe, her knees, her ankles, her muscles, her skin, are as smooth as silk . . . a wonderful asset to any woman.

Enough to set her up for life and enable her to look any situation in the face with a courageous and all-seeing eye.

The thyroid controls pretty much the pace at which we live.

In addition, it is the overseer of the outside of the body, the hair, the skin, the muscles, much as the pituitary regulates the skeleton.

But your thyroid girl is at a casual glance more than apt to look average. She's not your haunting beauty.

So to spot her, to avoid or cultivate, depending on your own bright courage, here we go.

If any figure could ever be called average it is hers, not good, not bad, not tall, not short.

She is well developed, but neat.

Another clue is the smooth way in which her sleek muscles flow over her body, undiscernible.

She has a tendency, too, to become lean under stress. Although what is stress for a thyroid might very well lead to an inopportune grave for another breed of woman.

She'll stay in fine slim fettle, too, all through her long and active life.

Her large and luminous eyes are perhaps a thyroid's most noticeable characteristic.

WE think we know the answer, BUT— Which Girl Would YOU Prefer?

They dominate her oval face, with its high, wide forehead, its high-arched and thin, delicate nose.

Her brows are long and thick, foiling her eyes the more. Her mouth is wide and indicative of her extreme sensitiveness.

She has a glorious smile that displays her characteristic glistening, pearly-white, even teeth.

Her hands can give you the low-down. Long, slender, tapering hands, with smooth, knuckleless, tapering fingers, the hands of the advertisements, being only to the thyroid.

The fingernails are large with large moons (the larger the moon, the greater the thyroid activity).

Her hair is thick, silky and has a high lustre.

Her skin is divinely soft, translucently clear, smooth and fine in texture.

Her legs are exciting, though thin and with little calf. She's the graceful walk of a doe.

Will you know her when you see her? At least, she'll give herself completely away in action, for action is breath to her.

She moves quickly, talks quickly, thinks quickly and fluently, though perhaps glibly and continuously.

She is noticeably emotional. Impulsive.

She has insatiable energy, which is a good thing to know if you're sub-adrenal or just an ordinary tired-out business man.

Like your preputiary, she's no dope. And like her, she's got a talent for cutting and ironic wit once she's aroused . . .

She's got an excellent memory, especially for concrete names and places, as distinct from the preputiary's talent for the abstract.

She likes attention and appreciation; eats it up as a child does and thrives on it.

If she's not getting enough of it she'll probably show off a bit to try to win some.

She has a talent for passionate expression, which is not surprising since the thyroid has a close relation to love.

This One Has Too Much Adrenal

This is your genuinely masculine woman, your prude, your crank, your woman who walks by herself, as well as your woman's-rightser, your labour organiser, super-business woman, tight-lipped super-athlete.

Being fairly observant you probably don't need us to point out many of her physical characteristics.

Glance over the endowments of the simple or pure adrenal personality and then translate them into what you believe to be fairly obvious masculine characteristics.

You have a square-faced, square-jawed, square-headed woman.

Her stocky build has lost its lusciousness. She is stocky still, but gaunt and flat-chested.

Invariably her skin is harsh and dry and of a dark and sallow colour. She more than likely has a pronounced down on her face.

Her hat is not put on before a mirror and more than likely wisps of hair are for ever straggling down her neck unnoticed.

She has a pugnacious manner and a choleric temper.

But her square hands are extremely competent, most of the time.

Very often, though not invariably, she not only feels responsible for her next door neighbour, but for the world.

And she generally shoulders her responsibility rather well, though not always in the most gracious manner.

The shyness or boisterousness of the simple adrenal is translated into extreme taciturnity or extreme volubility and vigour, together with a resentful emotionalism.

She probably has a sharp, sound mind, but man can't live by mind alone . . . or so I've heard.

—AND IF YOU'RE PLANNING AN— EVENING OUT—

There are no complications with the excess adrenal.

She'll enjoy an uplifting lecture or a hot debate. A political meeting, too, is right up her alley.

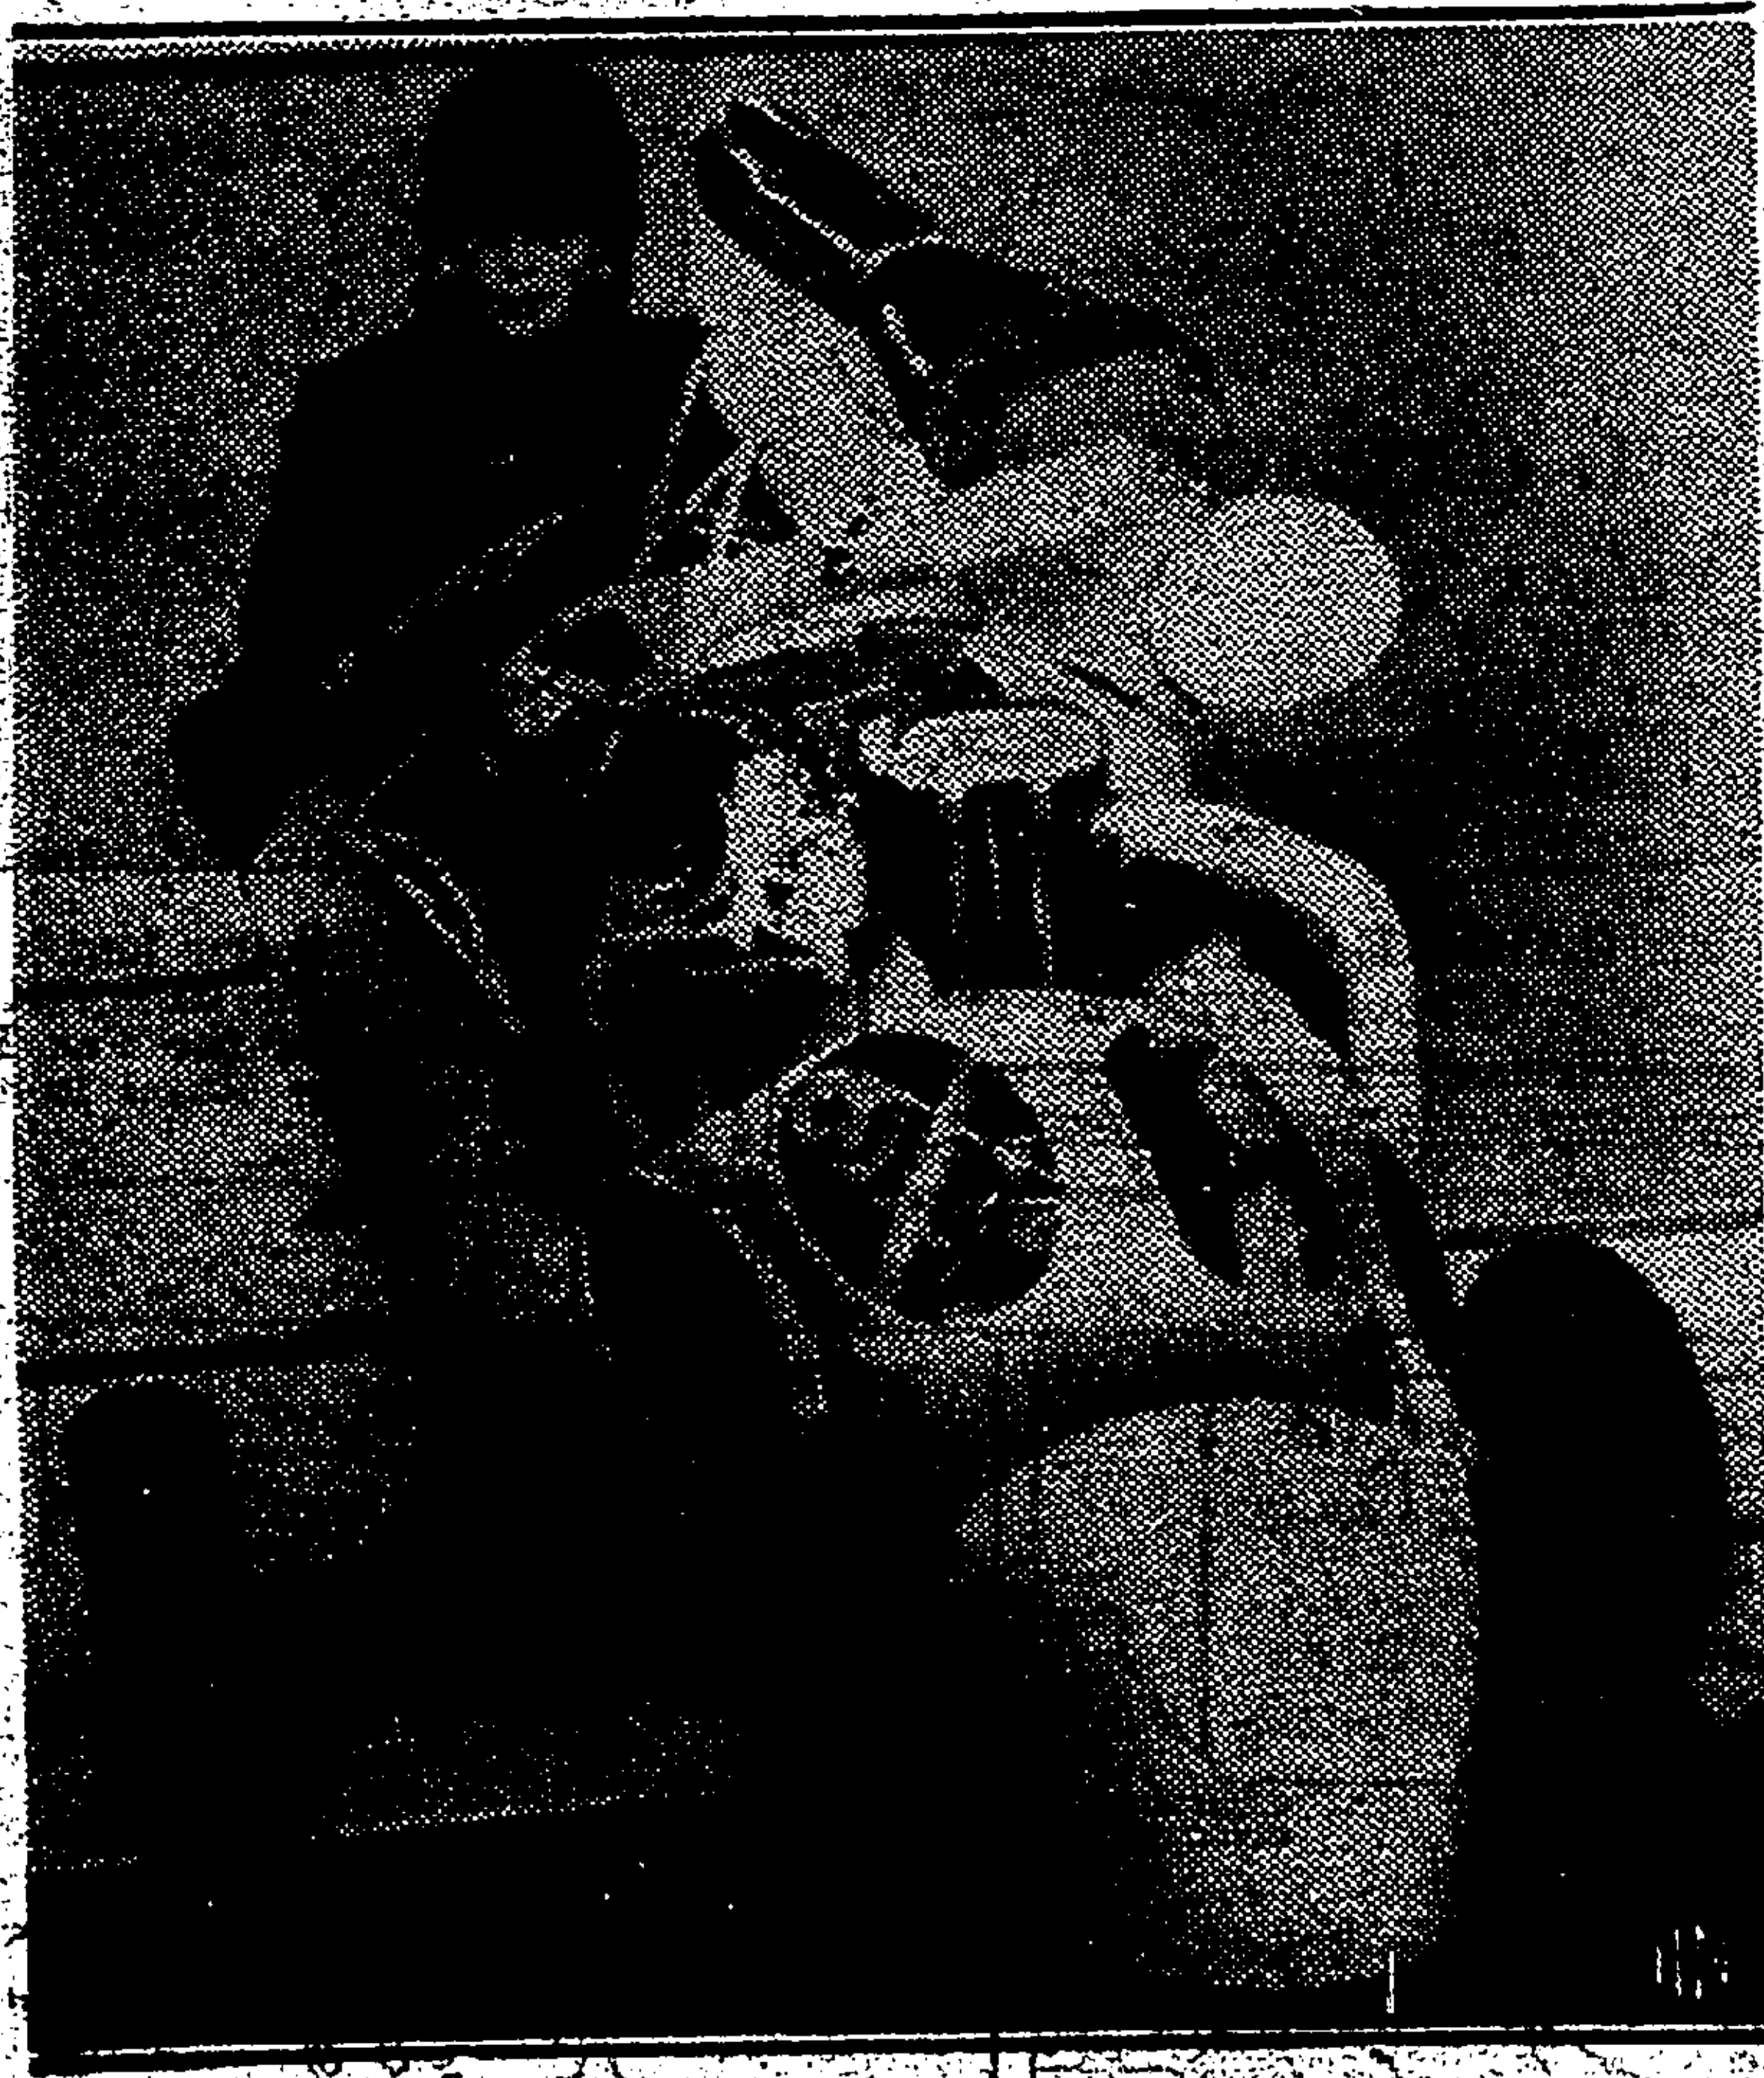

The thyroid is a different proposition. . . . She likes big parties and places with lots of people.

But don't forget she's bright and inclined towards whimsy. You could take her to a literary party.

She has a zest for almost anything.

She will certainly enjoy a symphony . . . a good play . . . the Zoo . . . the circus . . . football.

She can drink plenty—with a preference for cocktails or whisky.

The "turbo-fusee" remarkable invention of M. Millet, a Paris engineering expert. Although equipped with a motor of no more than 5 h.p. a speed of 112 m.p.h. is claimed for the odd-looking vehicle. The motor does not drive the car directly but generates compressed air.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

SIR THOMAS INSKIP ON COORDINATION OF DEFENCES

London, To-day.

The question of collating of defence is understood to have been the chief topic discussed at the first meeting of the munitions committee of the Imperial Conference, held yesterday under the chairmanship of the Minister for Co-ordination of Defence, Sir Thomas Inskip.

It is understood the discussions took the form of consultation between Dominion and Dominion.

The question of the position in the Pacific was especially discussed, and it was made clear that the identity of interests of Australia and New Zealand in the Pacific would unite those Dominions in support of a scheme which might eventually be decided for defence of British interests in the Pacific.

The committee on constitutional questions met at 3 o'clock in the afternoon under the chairmanship of Mr. E. Lapointe (Canada).

The committee discussed questions relating to treaty procedure, which it was agreed would be referred to the technical sub-committee.

It is learned the discussions centred entirely on the question of clarification of certain legal ambiguities in regard to agreements between the United Kingdom and South Africa.

AIR COMMUNICATIONS

The first meeting of the civil air communications committee was also held yesterday afternoon, under the chairmanship of Sir Robert Parkhill (Australia), and discussed Commonwealth aerial communications.—Reuter.

Note Depreciation

The depreciation of Kwangsi notes increases daily. Yesterday the rate of Hong Kong notes to Kwangsi notes was $100.00 H. K. to $250.00 K. S. It is reported that except in the big cities, Kweilin, Wuchow, Nanning and Liuchow, the people of Kwangsi are refusing to accept Provincial notes.

Marion Davies and Clark Gable appear together in "Cain and Mabel," the Cosmopolitan hit now showing at the King's Theatre.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

Subject: Ancient And Modern Necromancy,
Alias Mesmerism And Hypnotism Denounced

The Subject of the Lesson Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, tomorrow, May 30, will be: "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced."

The Golden Test will be: "I am with thee to save thee and to deliver thee, saith the Lord. And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the terrible." (Jeremiah 15:20,21).

Among others the following citations from the Bible will be read: "And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy. Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God. Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand." (Eph. 6:10-12).

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When the Science of Mind is understood, spiritualism will be found mainly erroneous, having no scientific basis nor origin, nor proof nor power outside of human testimony. It is the offspring of the physical senses. There is no sensuality in Spirit. The basis and structure of spiritualism are alike material and physical. Its spirits are so many corporealities, limited and finite in character, and quality. Spiritualism with its material accompaniments would destroy the supremacy of Spirit. If Spirit pervades all space, it needs no wires nor electricity in order to be omnipresent. Spirit is not materially tangible. How then can it communicate with man through electric material effects. How can the majesty and omnipotence of Spirit be lost? God is not in the medley where matter cares for matter, where spiritism makes many gods, and hypnotism and electricity are claimed to be the agents of God's government." (Pages 71, 78).

The B. I. s.s. Tanda left Moji for this Port yesterday and is due here on June 1.

Y.M.C.A. SWIMMING GALA ON JUNE 12

ONLY THREE FIRST DIVISION BOWLS MATCHES

Recreio Favoured Against K.B.G.C.

AN INTERESTING JUNIOR CARD

There will be only three First Division Lawn Bowls League matches down for decision to-day, weather permitting, as Kowloon Dock have obtained a postponement in their encounter against the Civil Service Cricket Club, due to the fact that they are unable to raise a team for various reasons.

Recreio are at home to the Kowloon Bowling Green Club, and a very close encounter should be witnessed. The Portuguese have been very lucky lately, having won their last encounter against the Kowloon Cricket Club through no fault of their own. This afternoon, although they will be playing against a much weaker team than has hitherto represented the Austin Road Club, they will have to be on their mettle to win.

The Footballers are at home to Craigenower, who should win on all three rinks.

CLOSE MATCH

The best match in the Second Division is that between the K.B.G.C. and Recreio, the holders, the former, having lost badly to Craigenower the week before last. The Portuguese are a good combination and are at present lying third in the table together with their opponents, although they have a better average on shots.

Another good encounter is that between the Indian Recreation Club and Craigenower, who were in the First Division last season, both these teams at present being at the top of the table. The Indians are bowling consistently well at the moment, although they are not expected to come away with the points, having lost to the same team last year by a margin of 9 shots.

The Yacht Club, present leaders in the Third Division, should beat the Footballers, while in the only other interesting tie here, Civil Servants should beat Recreio.

The following is Rover's forecast of to-day's programme:—

Very Interesting Stage Reached
TWO WEEKS OF PLAY

The draw of the second round in the Colony Lawn Bowls Open Pairs Competition took place yesterday evening by the Sub-Committee of the H.K.L.B.A. in the Board Room of the S.C.M.P. Building.

This stage of the competition is most interesting as many of the pairs which received byes into this round, will now be seen in action and the real move in eliminating the weaker partnerships will commence.

The following is the draw for the Second Round:—

LIGHT PROGRAMME TO OPEN SEASON

WATER-POLO MATCH WITH SIGNALS

TWO EVENTS FOR C.B.S.

(By "CRAWL")

THE European Y.M.C.A. Swimming Section will open their summer competitive programme with a night gala on Saturday, June 12, commencing at 9 p.m., with a programme of eight events including a water-polo match against the Royal Corps of Signals. The only two serious events on the programme will be the Men's and Ladies' 50 Yards Aggregate Handicap events.

A MEETING OF THE SWIMMING COMMITTEE WAS HELD YESTERDAY EVENING AT THE Y.M.C.A. WHEN MR. W. J. ASHTON PRESIDED AND WAS SUPPORTED BY W. F. KERR (SWIMMING CAPTAIN), R. GOLDMAN (ACTING HON. SECRETARY), W. J. COX, AND R. B. WOOD. THERE WERE NO MEMBERS OF THE LADIES' SWIMMING SECTION PRESENT.

It was decided to stage a water-polo match and to field as strong a team as possible, although the Section are unlucky to have lost many of their members during the off season. The Royal Corps of Signals were invited to provide the opposition, and I understand they are able to field a fairly good side including two very useful members in F. C. Ashford, who is reputed to have played for the Army at home, and F. Hudson.

It was also decided to encourage youngsters in the Central British School and two events over 50 Yards free style handicap, are open to boys and girls of the School, who are not members of the Y.M.C.A. junior section.

Those wishing to enter are asked to be present at the European Y.M.C.A. swimming pool on Tuesday, June 8, at 6 p.m., when their times will be taken by members of the Committee. This also applies to Y.M.C.A. members who intend entering for the Aggregate events.

THE PROGRAMME

The following is the programme, and we are asked to state that entry lists will be posted in the West Lounge (for Ladies) and Members' Boards by next Monday afternoon.

Men's 50 Yards Aggregate Handicap.
Ladies' 50 Yards Aggregate Handicap.

200 Yards Mixed Relay (teams of 8).
Men's 150 Yards Free Style relay (teams of six).

Novelty Race (Mixed).
C.B.S. Boys' 50 Yards Free Style Handicap.

C.B.S. Girls' 50 Yards Free Style Handicap.
Water-Polo—Y.M.C.A. v. R.C. of Signals.

The following will probably represent the Y.M.C.A.: H. A. Angus or S. A. Fowler; W. F. Kerr and R. Goldman; H. G. Lange, H. Millington, R. B. Wood and S. Fuxman.

There will be a dance in the West Lounge following the gala.

VOLUNTEERS AND H.K.B.C. MEET TO-DAY

Affair Will Be Very Close

To-day's Baseball League fixture is between the Hong Kong Baseball Club and the Volunteers, and will be played off at Caroline Hill, commencing at 2 p.m.

This game should provide better entertainment than hitherto witnessed this season, as both teams are hard hitting ones and fairly evenly matched.

The Hong Kong Baseball Club will be fielding the same team as before. Provided the Volunteers do not get flurried at the start, and make errors the match is certain to be decided by a very narrow margin.

VOLUNTEERS' LINEUP

The Volunteers will have Mendonca at the first base, and V. Costa, as left-fielder. Costa has up to date displayed a very safe pair of hands and his fine anticipation will prove an asset in this afternoon's match.

Bowen will pitch, while the contra-field position has been entrusted to Y. Abbas. Wing Lee will be the catcher.

The following are the two teams: Volunteers—J. Bowen (p.), H. Wing Lee (c.), M. Mendonca (1st b.), W. Battrai (2nd b.), A. Hussain (3rd b.), D. Leonard (s.s.), V. Costa (l.f.), M. Abbas (c.f.), and S. Leonard (r.f.). H.K.B.C.—R. McCall (p.), Thomson (c.), Hearther (1st b.), Smedley (2nd b.), Melther (3rd b.), H. McCall (s.s.), Ladig (l.f.), Muir (c.f.), Divett (r.f.).

HUTTON'S FIGHTING INNINGS BUT YORKSHIRE LOSE TO M.C.C.

FIRST DEFEAT SINCE 1907 SEASON

GRAND FINISH FEATURED

(By HOWARD MARSHALL)

London, May 5.

THE first M.C.C. victory against Yorkshire since 1907, a fighting innings of 161 by Hutton, the welcome appearance of the New Zealand cricketers in the nets — these were the main events at Lord's yesterday.

YORKSHIRE DID NOT DIE TAMELY. THEY WERE GIVEN 406 RUNS TO MAKE, AND THEY HAD MADE 380 BY 6.10, WHEN STEPHENSON SENT TURNER'S OFF-STUMP SPINNING. A GRAND FINISH TO A DELIGHTFUL MATCH, AND CRICKET HAS STARTED BRAVELY AT HEADQUARTERS.

Hutton's innings began uncertainly, continued stubbornly, and ended militantly. There were times in the morning when Stephenson shook and startled him, but unobtrusively he settled down to play with admirable patience.

If Yorkshire were to escape with honour from a difficult situation, Hutton had to sustain the role of a Sutcliffe, and it was because he succeeded that the game continued to be interesting until Stephenson bowled that last decisive ball.

Smailes also must take credit for an innings as plucky as it was unexpected, and his 57 not out was worth many a century.

Bowes' Absence

M.C.C. were sorely handicapped by the absence of Bowes, who has water on the knee, and may be out of the game for some time. To attack so dour a batting side as Yorkshire on an easy wicket with bowling strength thus diminished was a serious problem, and M.C.C. have every reason to plume themselves on their victory.

Yorkshire's position at the beginning of the day was none too good, for M.C.C. led by 366 with four wickets in hand. It was overcast and rather chilly when Edrich and Aird went out to continue the M.C.C. innings, and very soon it was clear that Yorkshire had more trouble coming. Edrich resumed his steady excellence, Aird played some delightful strokes, Hargreaves and Smailes tottered vainly, and the runs mounted up.

Fatal Wild Beat

It was 12 o'clock when Edrich, tired of respectability, took a wild beat at Hargreaves, and had his off-stump knocked out of the ground. With seven wickets down, and a total of 276 M.C.C. then declared, leaving Yorkshire the formidable task of making 406 in 4½ hours.

Wyatt (nursery end) opened the bowling with Stephenson. By this time the sun was shining, and a general Yorkshire obviously would take somnolence spread over the ground. Yorkshire obviously would take this matter seriously, and there was some spadework to be done.

Stephenson also gave the match his closest attention, and his opening overs were full of proper hostility. He morally bowled Hutton half-a-dozen times, and even Sutcliffe found a late in-swinging coming through unexpectedly fast and shaking him from rectitude.

Stephenson The Menace

Hutton did cut Wyatt square with such unexpected violence that Moore, in the gully, jumped in alarm, but runs were squeezed out very sparingly and Stephenson was a constant menace. At 38 he had his reward, for Sutcliffe, with old and more spacious days in mind, walked protectively across his stumps, made no stroke, and was pained to find himself out l.b.w.

A fair recompense for Stephenson, and a moment later Hutton nearly played on to Edrich. Yorkshire were struggling, and Mitchell, after hitting Robins easily through the covers, was sorely perplexed by the next ball, which fizzed viciously near the edge of the bat.

A lovely forcing stroke off the back foot brought Hutton a grand four past extra-cover, and then, after some unobtrusive progress, Mitchell played Robins straight and hard, Robins checked the ball, Wyatt backed up, Mitchell called and was easily run out. This moment of strange aberration brought Leyland in to join Hutton at 83, just before the luncheon interval, and gradually Yorkshire's prospects improved.

Leyland Calls The Tune

Leyland, as usual, gave no sign that the situation was critical, but proceeded with massive quietness to suggest that the M.C.C. bowling was not particularly noxious. He hooked and pulled Robins severely up against the grand stand railings, and drove him with swinging blows over mid-off's head, while Hutton played second fiddle with contented confidence.

By three o'clock we were even beginning to wonder whether Yorkshire might not make the guns, and Hutton became positively skittish, jumping to Roberts, and sending a towering chance to mid-on, and slashing a perfect four through the covers.

The 200 went up—a partnership of 117—and then Leyland failed to get right across to Wyatt, and skied a catch to Robins at Cover. He had been in one and a quarter hours for his 69, a brave and refreshing innings.

Then Yorkshire Sank

After that Yorkshire sank sadly towards disaster. Barber survived doggedly for a while, but at 232 he was caught behind the wicket, and very soon Turner swept Stephenson round, and gave Roberts a catch at long leg.

Hutton reached his patient 100, Sellars produced a rattling off-drive before he was l.b.w. to Robins, Wood was bowled with a bang by Edrich, Verity failed to detect Robins's wrong 'un, and at the tea interval Yorkshire had lost eight wickets for 266.

It seemed all over then, but Smailes, who bats left-handed, had been pondering the ways of Ley-land, and very solidly he kept Hutton company. The minutes went by, the runs came, Hutton drove Edrich and Roberts beautifully through the covers, and at half-past five Smailes was still putting his bat shrewdly to the straight balls, and equally shrewdly failing to connect when he slashed outside the off-stump.

The Fighting Finish

Yorkshire stock was rising. This was the fighting finish we had expected of them. Smailes hit Edrich for three fours in an over, two of them perfect off-drives of full Leyland quality. M.C.C. appeared to wilt against this stubborn defiance. Robins came on at the Pavilion end, and nearly bowled Smailes. Stephenson had a last fling, and shaved Smailes's stumps, to which Smailes replied by cracking the next ball through the covers to the boundary.

The possibility of a Yorkshire victory emerged, but at 5.55 Hutton snicked Robins into his stumps, and a gallant innings ended at a most critical moment. Only Turner was to come, and Yorkshire needed 49 runs in 35 minutes.

There was some scampering up and down, a few more valiant blows by Smailes, and then at 6.10, with the Yorkshire total 380, Turner raised his bat thoughtfully and watched a straight ball from Stephenson uproot his off-stump.

Smailes was undefeated, but M.C.C. had won, and Stephenson continued his run almost into the Pavilion.

WHY U.S. MAY DEFEAT AUSTRALIA

QUIST MUST DEFEAT DONALD BUDGE

PARKER'S FOREHAND WEAKNESS

(By A. WALLIS MYERS)

London, May 4.

THE international competition among 24 countries to find Great Britain's challenger for the Davis Cup is now in progress, and six claimants have already fallen — four in Europe, one on the Pacific coast and another on the heights of Mexico City.

FOUR ENGLISH-SPEAKING TEAMS WERE VICTORIOUS LAST WEEK-END, AND TWO OF THEM, NEW ZEALAND AND SOUTH AFRICA, WILL OPEN THEIR SECOND ROUND MATCH AT THE NEW BRIGHTON GROUND ON SATURDAY.

The result in this inter-Dominions tie is uncertain, but the odds are slightly in favour of South Africa. I have not seen Norman Farquharson and V. G. Kirby in action for two years, but their best is probably a little better than the best of Alan Stedman and C. E. Malfroy, who will represent New Zealand both in singles and doubles.

Stedman's recent defeat by Kho Sin Kie suggests that the volleying attack which both the Johannesburg players are certain to launch against him may prevail, especially as each has a strong service. On the other hand, Farquharson is a "lappable" player. After beating Perry at Wimbledon he slumped badly in the next round.

In doubles the South African pair have a distinguished record and a capacity for rising to the occasion. In the final of their own championship on the Rand a month or two ago they were two sets down and 2-4 down in the fifth set against Pallada and Puncce, the Yugoslavian visiting side, yet rallied twice to carry the day.

U.S.A. v. AUSTRALIA

The other two English-speaking countries, America and Australia, are to meet, as last year, on American courts to decide which shall enter the inter-zone contest at Wimbledon. This critical encounter will take place at Forest Hills at the end of May.

Before they went to Mexico City to trounce the Mexicans, the Australians, after landing, played, I hear, a series of matches before a big and curious crowd at Los Angeles. The heterodox John Bromwich, the 18-year-old Sydney lad who uses two hands for his strokes on the right of his body, defeated Jack Crawford in two sets, and McGrath and Quist "broke even." Crawford and Quist in partnership then showing their combined superiority to McGrath and Bromwich.

UNLESS GERMANY

We shall see both the Australian and American teams in action at Wimbledon during the championships next month, and one of them, unless the Germans intervene, should be our challengers in July.

For the crucial test at Forest Hills I think it may be assumed that the composition of the two sides, victorious at Mexico City and San Francisco respectively, will, unless an accident occurs, be unchanged.

McGrath is the present Australian singles champion, while Quist was champion last year; these two will be the singles players. Bromwich has an enviable record and the pertinacity of a Lacoste, but in his first year abroad he will be held in reserve. As Crawford and Quist beat Budge and Mako last year in the vital doubles match, their services are likely to be employed again.

PARKER TO REMAIN

There has been much speculation in America about the American team, but the authorities have done what they usually do—chosen the players according to official ranking. Budge, of course, was an inevitable selection for both singles and doubles, and the fact that Frank Parker, the U.S.A. No. 2, inflicted a decisive defeat on Yamagishi, the Japanese champion, on Saturday, is likely to confirm his place. The Americans have no other doubles team comparable with Budge and Mako, the present champions.

I am inclined to favour America's chances against Australia. Quist has never yet taken a set from Budge, and though that is not conclusive evidence of what will happen in New York, the Californian should carry his two singles. Parker, with a relative forehand weakness—his backhand is one of the surest in the world—is more vulnerable, but even if the Australians should gain two points here they are likely to find Budge and Mako a more formidable pair than last year in the doubles.

JACK DOYLE IN BOXING'S LUXURY CLASS

LONDON SAW REAL
McAVOY

RETURN BOUT WITH JOHN HENRY LEWIS?

(By HAROLD LEWIS)

London, April 29.

The most remarkable aspect of Tuesday night's boxing at Wembley was the extraordinary popularity of Jack Doyle. Despite the clumsiness of his victory over King Levinsky, the majority of those who saw the fight will insist on seeing Doyle again.

His right hand, in which a bone has been fractured, is to be examined to-day by a specialist, and it is fairly certain he will be unable to box for two or three months. In the meantime promoters will be falling over each other in their anxiety to secure his services.

PROSPECTS

It is not easy to discuss the future or the prospects of Doyle. Since he returned to the ring he has had three fights — against Alf Robinson, Harry Staal and King Levinsky. All these opponents proved to be of low calibre, and except that Staal floored Doyle with a crude punch the Irishman has not been tested at all.

He seems to be in a class by himself, a sort of luxury class. The public pays to see Doyle and not to see the fight. But on the subject of future opponents one piece of advice must now be offered to promoters.

LURE OF THE BIG PURSE

It is high time it was realised that the British boxing public are regarded by the American boxing fraternity as a joke. One after another of their boxers, whose careers are on the decline come to England to pick up a fat purse.

Baer came here accompanied by a mighty fanfare of publicity, and he fought like a weary man. Levinsky was worse, but he, of course, never was a top-flight, and one did not expect so much from him as from Baer.

To bring over worn-out boxers takes British boxing nowhere. The importation of Small Montana and John Henry Lewis were fine strokes. They gave British boxing a fillip. But we do not want any more has-beens.

J. H. LEWIS AGAIN

We are likely to see John Henry Lewis here again. In March of last year he defeated Jock McAvoy in the defence of his title of world light-heavy-weight champion. It was a points win and, to judge from the film, Lewis won with a good deal to spare without being able to hurt McAvoy seriously.

Subsequently Lewis came to Lon-

DONOGHUE'S FIRST TRIUMPH IN 1,000 GUINEAS

VETERAN WINS ON EXHIBITIONIST

A GOOD BET FOR THE OAKS

(By Hotspur)

Newmarket, May 1.

Exhibitionist won the one Thousand Guineas here this afternoon after a splendid race by half a length from Spray, who beat the odds-on favourite, Gainsborough Lass, by a head for second place.

Steve Donoghue, who rode Exhibitionist, has won all the other classics, but this is the first time that he has been successful in the One Thousand.

It was also Sir Victor Sassoon's first victory in a classic race, although his colt Hot Night was second in the Derby and the St. Leger 11 years ago.

NOT WORKING

The two-year-old form is not working out at all well. Exhibitionist was given only 7st 8lb in the Free Handicap, in which Gainsborough Lass had 8st 11lb. Doubtless the hard ground of last year is going to be responsible for a number of results not in accordance with preconceived ideas.

Exhibitionist was described on the programme as bred in France. This is incorrect. Her dam was on a visit to Hotweed at Frank Carter's stud at Haras de Mortefontaine, near Chantilly, when Exhibitionist was foaled. Her sire, Solaris, won the St. Leger in 1925 and the Ascot Gold Cup the following year.

She is in the Oaks (June 4) and her running this afternoon suggested that she will not be troubled by the extra half-mile at Epsom. It is most unlikely that Gainsborough Lass will be started in the Derby. She, too, is in the Oaks, and that probably will be her next race.

don and defended his title at Wembley against Len Harvey and again won comfortably. He would come again, and I hear that Wembley are already in touch with him.

McAVOY AT HIS BEST

McAvoy, who beat Eddie Phillips on Tuesday to win the British light-heavy-weight title, was a better McAvoy than we had ever seen before. Had he fought with the same aggression, speed and cleverness against Jack Petersen when they met at Earl's Court last year it would have been a fight to remember.

McAvoy scaled only 12st 2lb on Tuesday, and is not likely to get much heavier. But he retains the speed of a very fast middle-weight, and he was so clean in his hitting, so unexpected and swift in his attacks, and so deadly in his counter punches that if Lewis had been his opponent instead of Phillips we might to-day be boasting the acquisition of another world's title.

FINEST ATTRACTION

McAvoy has done something else. He has had the misfortune to box poorly in London on more than one occasion. Now London has seen him at his best, and it is highly probable that he is one of the finest attractions at the present time that a London promoter could desire, providing that he is well matched.

It was announced yesterday that Tommy Farr, the British heavy-weight champion, and Walter Neusel would meet at Harringay on June 15.

GRAND BATTING BY WORTHINGTON: COUNTY RESULTS

THE MOST INTERESTING HOME CRICKET MATCH TO CONCLUDE YESTERDAY WAS THE M.C.C. AUSTRALIAN ELEVEN VERSUS THE REST AT LORD'S. M.C.C. HAD FIRST LEASE OF THE WICKET AND AMASSED 376, TO WHICH WORTHINGTON CONTRIBUTED NO LESS THAN 156 UNDEFEATED AT THE CLOSE.

The Rest were dismissed for 235, giving M. C. C. a first innings lead of 141. In their second effort, M. C. C. had to fight for runs against some steady bowling by Gover, the Surrey fast bowler, who returned the excellent analysis of 7 for 44, and were able to total only 173.

The Rest batsmen, with 314 required for victory, were dismissed for 245, M. C. C. bowlers sharing the wickets.

Sussex were unable to force home a first innings advantage against Leicester. With the aid of 110 by C. S. Dempster, their captain, Leicester were able to compile 351. Sussex, however, made light of the opposition attack, and at close of play had totalled 446 for the loss of only four wickets. John Langridge gave them a good start and Cook and Flt. Lt. A. J. Holmes, were featured in a huge partnership which remained unfinished.

D. J. Knight, who returned to the Surrey side this season after a lapse of 10 years, followed up his fine batting in his last match against Gloucester, when he scored 85, with a brilliant century in his second innings against Hampshire. Despite his effort, Surrey lost by 71 runs.

In an extraordinarily low-scoring match at Headingley, Yorkshire defeated Gloucester by 140 runs. Goddard's brilliant bowling resulted in him capturing 13 wickets for 142 runs.

Dismissed for 157 in their first knock, the Yorkshire bowlers were not dismayed by the absence of Verity, and Robinson (7 for 45) skittled Gloucester out for a paltry 77, and Hargreaves followed this up by capturing 4 for 26 to send them back for only 87 in their second venture.

Lancashire were held by Worcester and were only able to secure points for a win on the first innings.

Results as cabled by Reuter are as follows:—

M.C.C. Australian XI beat The Rest by 69 runs at Lord's.

C.B.R. SARGENT'S SURPRISE TENNIS WIN

Bodiker's Win Over W. C. Hung

The victory of C. B. R. Sargent over J. L. Anderson in the Men's Junior Championship at the K.C.C. yesterday, came as a surprise. The damp state of the court was an obvious handicap to Anderson, who was never able to get his drives into working-order.

Sargent, who was chopping viciously, was down 2-5 in the first set, but then won five games in a row to draw first blood. Thereafter he was never extended.

Bodiker was much too steady off the ground for Hung in the Men's Handicap "A", and dictated terms from the base-line. Hung's ground strokes were never convincing, and his opponent's accurate passing shots, precluded any attempt on his part to take the forecourt.

Men's Junior Championship
C. B. R. Sargent beat J. L. Anderson 7-5, 6-3, 6-1.

Men's Handicap "A"
G. Bodiker (owe 30) beat W. C. Hung (owe 30.40) 6-3, 6-3.
